I am sorry that I do not have time to comment further, but there will be no true justice regarding this case without a breakup of Microsoft. What has been proposed is tantamount to a slap on the wrist for one of the most domineering, anticompetitive monopolies that has ever existed. Please do not give in to corporate pressure. Even while you contemplate this proposed settlement Microsoft continues their domineering "bully" tactics on a market without competition. I speak from experience as both a computer network administrator and as a builder of new computer systems.
